

Focus on Veterans

June 2, 2011

You are cordially invited to attend a conference to listen and discuss your role in dealing with the special issues Veterans face as they return to civilian life after serving in a combat zone.

The conference will consist of presentations, panel discussions, and questions and answers focusing on Veterans who have returned from military service and are at risk or involved with the criminal justice system. The program will include special issues that Veterans face when returning from active duty and ideas as to how to mitigate potential volatile situations.
